Issue 10

24th November 2017

Thank you for your non uniform donations for our Christmas Fair.

Anti-Bullying Weeks

Thank you for all the positive feedback from our anti-bullying weeks.

I walked into a classroom unannounced this week and asked the children about what they knew about the different types of bullying. They were all very knowledgeable and had a good understanding of how they could contribute to stamping this out, and taking a full place in modern British society. One of the recurrent issues schools face is around Cyber bullying. I welcomed a report from Government this week placing the emphasis on parents knowing what their children were up to on social media. If your children have internet enabled phones, PlayStations, iPads or computers—and they have been allowed by you to have social media accounts, then these need to be policed by parents/carers to keep yours and other children safe. Wibsey Primary School will continue to offer parent workshops to help deal with this fast changing world.
