Autumn Term

With all the news about the death of the Queen and having had the extra Bank Holiday it feels a strange start to the year. I now feel like we can really crack on with the autumn term.

The big news is that for the first time in a couple of years we are planning our curriculum educational visits with the optimism that they will all be able to go ahead.

As a school we are acutely aware of the pressures on families so we are going to try and do these as cheaply as possible. School are also facing the cost pressures with energy and wage rises, alongside the rise in costs across all areas for example paper and copying. In spite of this we have ring fenced the sum of £15 per child to subsidise the years main visit. In the majority of cases this should cover the complete cost. I hope this helps you, and it means we will keep to the bare minimum the amounts we ask for when taking children out and about.

Wibsey—the Village School

I don't want to bang on about uniform and spend too much time on it but I will remind you all at this point about the agreement with PE Kit. AS a group of parents you expressed your views and the clear majority went with plain black joggers/hoody/sweatshirt/trainers and a white t-shirt. I shouldn't see sparkles, logos, other colours etc creeping in. Expect to be called by staff or to meet with the Assistant Headteachers as we enforce this. It's only fair to all families to follow this—and it's a cheap model to follow.
