Anti Bullying week & Children in Need

It was lovely to see children across
school in their different jumpers
today expressing themselves. I think your children have a good idea of what to do if something
happens at school,
whether that is a one
off episode or more

persistent—where it becomes bullying.

In linking this weeks
work to our support
of Children in Need
we are supporting charities like Young Minds, who work to support children with their concerns.

The bottom line in school is for children
to speak out, to always talk to an adult so that concerns are nipped

A further polite
reminder about headlice.
Please check your child regularly, treat if needed and keep long hair tied back. Contact school if you would like further advice.

Reading Journals

Are your children routinely (everyday) bringing home reading journals and returning to school with them the following day? Do you think your child's book is too easy or too hard? There are lots of tasks to complete together in the book and an opportunity to make comments encouraging your child and increasing understanding of where their strengths and weaknesses lay. On the back of this you can have those ongoing discussions with class teachers to ensure we can, together foster a love of books and great reading skills.

Have a lovely
weekend
