2 Week Transition

Hopefully your children are settling well in their new classes. It is always a daunting time—and even more so for parents of children getting ready for Y1 as they make the big move across the road.

I remind us all that there are 2 really big reasons for doing transition in this way. Firstly, it helps get everyone ready for a flying start in September; everyone's teacher has had time to meet and properly greet and prepare. Secondly, it allows your children time to get used to the change. A lot of you tell me that your children are much happier over the summer because they know who they are sitting with, where things are in class and what the routines are etc.

Please speak to your child's new teacher if needed.

It was great to see Y6's production of "The Next Big Step" this week. What a talented bunch of actors and singers we have.

Their leavers' assembly is a ticket only event—have you got yours?

Come on England

I'm sure you can't have failed to miss that England are in the Euros final on Sunday evening. For those of us who follow the game it will be an exciting night. Straight to bed afterwards for our children as we will see them at the normal time on Monday.

We are welcoming several new staff for September (who are already in working with your children) and are saying some goodbyes. More info next week in our final newsletter of the year.
